Extracto

I am a person who is characterized by empathy with other people, committed to my work and the desire to learn. I have the experience and capacity for teamwork with agile methodologies (Scrum). I am proactive in the search for new solutions to improve the development processes in the different projects that I find. I manage different tools technologies such as Microsoft SQL Server 2012, 2014, 2016 (basic), as well as frontend developer. I stand out for the desire to learn and share the knowledge gained to teammates and customers.

I have the capacity to analyze, criticize and reflect, to listen, to accept and to improve in the mistruths, always aware of the impact that the decisions and actions that they can generate.

I also like and am good at interpreting texts in English or working with knowledge in this language.
